THE 1946 PINE NEEDLES

is attempting to portray the Woman's College along with other American colleges as the pathway to peace and power; to give you a picture of young women who are endeavoring through education to prepare themselves to play their ever-important role in a post-war world in which the responsibility of youth is great; and to aid you, the pathfinders, to remember vividly every mile along this journey.

PERHAPS YOU'RE TRYING TO FORGET: that freshman initiation when you salaamed those honored presidents and proposed to your favorite professor . . . that as a result of the labor shortage, you raked our cherished lawns and carried trays until you walked on one side . . . those rainy Monday mornings on which you dragged out the traditional raincoats, boots, kerchiefs and hats . . . those days when you struggled through the P. O. during the 10 o'clock rush only to find your box empty, and those weekly hikes to Chapel . . . BUT YOU'LL ALWAYS REMEMBER: sliding in those laundry baskets on those snowy evenings . . . those after-dinner bridge games and smokes to escape the studies . . . when things were so tough that it was one man to four gals, but remember, girls, better things are ahead . . . those week-ends you spent prom trotting or as gridiron fans—occasions which were few and far between . . . those informal after class chats with the profs and celebrities that visit us on various occasions . . . All these are milestones in our quest for peace and power!

DEDICATION

We proudly dedicate the 1946 Pine Needles to Miss Ethel L. Martus, our Class Chairman and our ever willing advisor, who has given us encouragement and counsel, led us on to achievement by her confidence in us, and guided us to the realization of graduation.

Miss Martus' unfailing energy and sincerity make us doubly delighted to make this dedication.

GOVERNOR
R. GREGG CHERRY

GOVERNOR R. GREGG CHERRY, administrative leader of higher education in North Carolina as well as in its political administration, has become a well known figure to all of us through the able manner in which he has carried out his duties as governor of the state. We are prouud to know he is our political and educational leader, and grateful for the interest he has taken in the Woman's College.

DR. FRANK PORTER GRAHAM

DR FRANK PORTER GRAHAM, the man who never forgets a name and face, is more than a credit to our university and to our state; he is a credit to our country. Long-time leader and teacher of the democratic way of life, Dr. Graham, President of the University of North Carolina, has inspired the deep respect and affection of his students and of his fellow man.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS W.C.U.N.C.

MR. WILLIAM D. CARMICHAEL, better known as "Mr. Billy," Comptroller of the university, is always among the most popular visitors to the Woman's College campus. With a constant twinkle in his eye, an ever-ready joke on the tip of his tongue, he is at the same time most able in his position, and one of our college's most devoted and hard working champions.

DR. WALTER C. JACKSON, Chancellor of the Woman's College, has, since becoming its head in 1934, built the college into a nationally known and respected institution, as well as one of the largest of its kind in the country. Admired and loved by everyone, Dr. Jackson manages to steal into the heart, in a very personal way, of each student who comes to the college.

MISS HARRIET W. ELLIOTT, locally, nationally, and internationally famous, has, since coming here in 1913, been one of the college's outstanding leaders. Teacher, scholar, a wise and understanding administrator in the smallest or the largest situation, she is a great woman and a great leader of our time. We are proud, happy, and humbly grateful that among all of the places where she has exemplified "responsible freedom for women," the Woman's College is her favorite.

The Alumnae Association is the link between the College and the students after they have been graduated. It is a two-way highway over which the College travels out to meet the alumnae, and over which they travel back to their college—in various ways. Following up the whereabouts and activities of the alumnae, publishing the magazine—The Alumnae News, promoting local alumnae clubs and associations, arranging class reunions, extending hospitality to the College, the Faculty, Students, and Alumnae through the facilities of the Alumnae House—all these are points in the comprehensive program of the Alumnae Association.

OF THE PEOPLE

Elections over, the newly elected student government was inaugurated at the last mass meeting of the year. The retiring president delivered her "address," and then she gave the oath of office to the incoming officers.

Actually, the student government officers spend the month of May in getting acquainted with their new duties. Plans are made then for the pre-school conference, which is held in the early fall. At the conference three committees met and discussed the Social Program, the Honor Policy, and the War Service Program. Conference lasted three days, and the highlight of the entire program was the forum on "Faculty-Student Relationships."

The Freshmen became oriented into our democratic organization at a meeting held during Freshmen week. A play was given, uniquely explaining the Student Government Association at the Woman's College and the part of each student in this organization. Later, the Freshmen took their tests on the rule book, discussed the honor policy in their halls, and finally took the honor pledge at the first mass meeting before the upperclassmen.

In order to keep the students mindful of their democratic organization, mass meetings were held at various times throughout the year. At check-up conference, the results of the plans made at pre-school conference were reviewed.

The Student Government Association is divided into three branches—legislative, executive, and judicial. Every student is a member of this association. President Sarah Moss presides over the Judicial Board, calls mass meetings, and is invested with all executive power. Jane Linville, as Vice-President of Student Government, presides at legislature and is responsible for seating in chapel. Julia Alexander, Secretary, takes the minutes of mass meetings, records Judicial Board cases, and sends out a report of all Judy Board and Hall Board cases each week. Democracy is in action at the Woman's College, for here we have an organization of the students, by the students, and for the students.

FOR THE PEOPLE

If you should ever be walking by the Alumnae House on a Monday night and happen to peek in a certain one of the downstairs windows, you would probably see a group of girls don long black robes and then take their places around a U-shaped table. Those girls make up the Judicial board—perhaps better known to us as the "Judy" Board. It is their job to render justice to those girls who have not lived up to the rules under which they have been placed. The "Judy" Board is composed of five seniors, two juniors, and a faculty advisor. The President of the Student Government presides, and the Secretary of the Student Government acts as Secretary.

In each dormitory, a Hall Judicial Board is set up and is under the supervision of the "Judy" Board. The Hall Board is composed of the House President, a member of the "Judy" Board, and four other girls living in the dormitory. The Hall Board handles all minor cases and is responsible for the conduct within its respective hall. The "Judy" Board records and reviews the Hall Board cases and may act as a court of appeals for Hall Board sentences, if so desired.

SITTING: Sara Layton, Marge Hand, Chairman. ● STANDING: Mrs. Funderburk, Mr. Painter, Miss McFadyen.

15's the Limit

So that every girl may have the opportunity of holding office and displaying her abilities, a Points Committee has been given the job of seeing that no one does more than her share.

SITTING: Miss Griffin, Dr. Keister, Betty Jane Sarratt. ● STANDING: Jean Stockton, Margaret Reynolds, Mary Ellen Agnew, Mr. Lockhart.

Financial Wizards

Each organization obtains funds with which to operate through the work of the Finance Board. It has direct supervision over the financial policies of the student organizations participating in the budget and also aids and guides the four classes in the handling of their funds.

Votes Wanted

All those posters we see during election week, the ballots we use, and the other items that are necessary in order to have an election are made possible by the Elections Board. It is one of the boards we hear very little of, but the splendid results of its work prove its worth.

SITTING: Celeste Ulrich, Miss Leonard. ● STANDING: Sue Willmot, Jane Linville, Betty Reid Hoyle, Evelyn Brown, Jean Ross.

Home Away from Home

"Mid pleasures and palaces—there's no place like home"—and to a student on any college campus the dorm is the closest thing to home. It is with pleasure that we honor those two, the ever-faithful house presidents and counselors, who, working conscientiously and incessantly, have done so much to make our dormitory life one of the cherished memoirs of our college days. This memory we will take with us into the golden future which lies ahead. We owe to them praise and appreciation beyond trite words for their guidance and leadership at all times.

The house president is—yes, she's the girl who keeps all sorts of affairs straight, plans for dorm dances, bridge parties, teas—the girl who calls Mr. Sink when the lights or water go off—the girl who takes your ideas to legislature—who reminds us of our obligations lest we forget—the girl who is really a "jack of all trades."

And the counselor—she is the charming personality who is ready at all times to discuss or advise us with our problems, who lends a helping hand when bad news arrives, who peeks in the keyhole if we're not feeling well. It is our counselor who arranges those "special" occasions, and who gives us advice whenever we need it.

These are our friends—who are continually working to make the dorm even more the way mother would make it. We're proud of them, and we'd like you to know all of them. Please don't leave because here are—those counselors whose faces are already well-known on the campus, Miss Grogan, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. West, Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Carter, Miss Garner, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Inghram, Miss Martin, and Miss Taylor, Weil's contribution to the war effort whom we are happy to welcome back from the Waves this year. Newcomers to the campus this year who have proved themselves true friends are Miss Wilson, who came to us from Agnes Scott and Columbia; Mrs. McCartney, a former student; Miss Westerberg, from Columbia and New York City; Miss Prondecki and Miss Gainey, both of whom were in the Waves.

The upperclassmen house presidents—our student leaders—Winfield's friendly and capable Betty Dixon; Weil's exacting Agnes Manson; conscientious Norma Perry in Shaw; the originality and wit of Sis Funderburk in Woman's; silent, quiet Orrell Moody in Kirkland; efficient Ruth Diercks led North Spencer; South Spencer's winsome Evelyn Smithwick; energetic Winnie Yount in New Guilford; and capable Lorraine Simms in Mary Foust.

Rule on the Quadrangle

The freshmen and commercials, and of course, we won't forget the sophomores in Jamison, were led by the usual house presidents from the Junior class. These six girls have great responsibility as they initiate the freshmen into the ways and wiles of college life. Perhaps to them, more than to the upperclassmen, the house president is a true friend and leader. Jamison boasted Bootsie Webb, with a smile and cheerful word for everyone; Bailey was led by petite Alice Farmer; loyal Jean Keiger won the hearts of the commercials in Hinshaw; Gray had a good friend in Martha Ivey; Cotten's charming Frances Mann was noted for her cooperation; enthusiastic Truly Bryan captivated Coit. These big sisters of the class of '49 have done a wonderful job, and we're proud of all of them.

O '46, We Hail You

Seniors! The hallowed group. It took us three years to get here, and now we've finished the Glorious Fourth. We are the victims of mixed emotions. We want that sheepskin, but we can get plenty nostalgic about our college days here.

We've made this last year our best. We've edited the publications; we've been presidents of the organizations; and we've been dance chairmen for society and class formals. We were the first class to have a big pep rally down at the lake, and at Thanksgiving we held a progressive dinner—going from dorm to dorm for food. "Never mind the waistline. Let me at it."

Now we're ready to take our places as college women in this postwar world. We won't forget the words of the Alma Mater—"Our motto service will remain." We will serve as enlightened women, as workers or wives. But we won't forget W. C. For the rest of our lives we'll be buttonholing people and yelling, "Hello, Susie Smith, remember when . . ." The memories will be good ones of our four years. And how do we like our new name? We love it—Yes, we're ALUMNAE!

Jolly Juniors

How to spot a junior? That's simple. We're the ones who rush around in those firemen red jackets and shiny new black school rings. Fireman red is a good color for us, too, for we do things and do them in a hurry. It's a cinch that no flies grow on this class!

In the fall we all gathered for a big pep rally around a bonfire down at the lake. We munched popcorn, drank cokes, and cheered until we were hoarse. Late in the evening the strains of "We the class of '47 do" were still echoing across the lake.

We ran the junior shop and spent hours swapping nickels and cokes and gossip across the counter. Smoke rose while we talked about our majors—which we had finally decided on! And every day somebody would come in to yell, "Hey, Hepzibah, Johnny's a mister!" And there was talk of college week-ends and football games—the kind of talk we hadn't heard much the other two years.

We weren't the bosses this year, but we're ready for next. We've served our apprenticeship and that junior fire-truck is ready to roll into next year!

Just Halfway

Sophs—that ancient term from which they take the word sophomoric. Maybe it's because of our new-found privileges. We gleefully took our cuts. We hauled bag, baggage, and our teddy bears to upperclassmen dorms. We found eleven o'clock bedtimes an impossibility. We had time for talk sessions, food feasts, and fun. We took a more active part in campus organizations. Yet we found time to work.

We gave out with the eternal sophomore plaint, "What can I major in? I don't know what I want to do. Should I transfer?" Yet by the end of the year most of us had found it, and were ready to really concentrate.

We took the Hut as our class project and made it fun for the Saturday night Plutocrats with dates. Some of our mothers who helped build the Hut way back in the first World War would have been proud of the efficient way we saw to it that the fires were burning, the "juke-box" working, and "cokes" provided. Our project was fun!

We've reached the halfway mark. If the next two years are as good as these two, we're ready for them!

The Yearlings

Won't we have some wild tales to tell the folks when we go home this year—about walking all over Administration Building looking for 312 McIver, or the night we went to sleep in the bathtub when we'd sneaked in to study after closed study, or the time we had our posture picture taken with all our best friends standing around cheering us on!

Remember Rat Day and those letters we spent the afternoon composing—asking one fellow why he didn't tell us he had a wife or writing some Pfc. Martin, whom we'd never seen, that we'd love him 'til Gabriel blew his horn. But weren't the formal dinners that night grand? Everything from soup to nuts. And just wait—our turn will come to assign those letters!

Exams were gruesome. We screwed our hair into pigtails, dined on black coffee, and kept asking each other what on earth a bath was! But we made it—by the skin of our teeth and the grace of Legislature who gave us late night permissions. Yes, at long last we are oriented. If we're a rebel we know that Yankee girls say ham, not ha-um; and if we're a Yankee we know Southern girls aren't putting it on—they mean that friendliness. We can hold our own in any bull session. We're ready for the mantle of sophisticated sophs!

Freshman Commission

Elected at the end of the first eight weeks of school, the Freshman Commission is composed of two girls from each Freshman dormitory and two town students. These girls serve on this council until class officers are selected. In this way the Freshmen are able to become acquainted with each other and to recognize their leaders.

One Yearers

This one year has really passed quickly. We've played, talked, and worked our heads off under the friendly supervision of Mrs. West and our attractive house president, Jean Keiger. We've loved the fun we've had in our dormitory, Hinshaw-on-the-Quadrangle.

Early in the year we elected our class officers: Mary Irvin Thompson, president; Shirlie Carter, vice-president; Gwen Shives, secretary; and Margaret Stanton, treasurer.

On January 19 we donned our evening clothes for an evening of dancing to the music of Paul Bell and his orchestra. "It Might As Well Be Spring" was the theme for our formal—and it might as well have been, for our dance really brought us out of the winter slump. Mary Glendinning and her committee really did some fine work.

We are glad to pull in those certificates. We worked hard for them. But we hate to leave. As we go out to take our places in offices, we know that we will always be remembering our days at W. C.

CELIA ROTHGEB

Each class at the college has its Y.W.C.A. club, designed to orient, inform, and unify its members in their common quest of how life is to be lived. Many students find their most congenial channel of discussion and worship through the "Y."

"Y" leaders at Woman's College are not unmindful of the strength of their connection with a larger association. Their first concern, however, is to build community in the place where they happen to be and to serve the community built by those who came before them.

Both the Y.W.C.A. and the Interfaith Council, being non-denominational fellowships, have access to the rich religious heritage of all faiths and are free to pioneer in new areas of social action. The faith of this particular organization is that the life and teachings of Christ are the clue to meaning and reality.

Young Women's

Both the close fellowship of the cabinet and the outreach of the wider membership make up the "Y" at the college. The first consists of students who make this their major activity; they give freely of their time and energy in planning for the whole community—sometimes the planning is for the proper observance of the World Day of Prayer and Interracial Sunday; sometimes it is for examination teas as a proper ministry at a time of serious purpose.

A more active program resources department has in 1945-46 provided dorm devotions leaders and other inquiring minds with program materials—books and periodicals—in greater quantity than ever before.

Weekly vespers and University Sermons, conferences featuring visiting speakers, interracial group meetings, clubs studying peacetime conscription and the family of nations, gathering clothes for Europeans and filling Christmas baskets for those in need nearer home, selling Christmas seals and giving to the World Student Service Fund—these are a few of the concerns of the "Y" which its members have worked to make concerns of the Woman's College.

Cooperating in Understanding

JEAN DUNLAP
President

Each religious organization at the college including the Y.W.C.A. elects students to be its representatives on the Interfaith Council. The Council holds monthly meetings as a clearing-house of the various activities of the member groups. Its programs are designed to promote understanding of the great faiths and to encourage the religious spirit in the college community.

By decision of the student legislature this year, Interfaith Council's president is to be elected by the entire student body in elections for major offices each spring. This tie-up with the whole life of the college is in keeping with the philosophy underlying both council and college.

At the present, members of the Council are working with Chancellor Jackson to raise funds for a College Chapel in which students of all faiths will be at home. All members of the community are grateful for the basic understanding existing here among Catholic, Jewish, and Protestant students and look forward to the time when a proper building for religious services can take its place as the heart of the college.

Those Who Serve

DOROTHY SPRUILL
President

During this academic year of 1945-46 the former War Service League reconverted to a peace time program and was dubbed the "Service League." Many war time activities have proven necessary to continue during this year of reconversion. We have successfully continued the regular sale of war stamps or rather U. S. savings stamps as they are now called. Scrap paper remains important and the collection has kept well abreast of last year's record of bonds for the Chapel Fund. Dining room work has been another important service and each hall has served a month during the year. The Campus Purse Drive exceeded all records and we swell with pride when we think of sending our check of almost two thousand dollars to the World Student Service Fund for work with students in war ravaged lands. New last year and gaining ground rapidly has been the Post War Action Commission sponsored by the Service League. This Commission working with the YWCA and the IRC has sponsored forums, town meetings, and prominent speakers on current topics of interest in our post war world. The Service League has also sponsored several times clothes, food, and conservation drives for the unfortunate peoples of Europe and Asia. We have felt this to be one of the most important services we might render in this first year of peace—1946.

The Musical World

Directed by Mr. George Thompson, the choir is composed of more than 140 students. This group gives concerts at Christmas and Easter and renders special music for chapel programs and University Sermons. During commencement it combines with the orchestra in giving a joint musical.

Conducted by Dean Hugh Altvater, the orchestra is composed of citizens of Greensboro, students, and faculty members of Woman's College. The group gives concerts in the fall and spring and joins with the choir to give a program at commencement.

Curtain

About five times a year the curtain goes up on a Play-Liker production. But for weeks before that curtain goes up, the Play-Likers and drama faculty create the rhapsody of sounds, odors, and sights that mean "show in production."

Hammers making contact with nails, and sometimes with fingers — "Who walked off with my ruler?"—the smell of paint, and of glue—the roar of the saws, and strained vocal cords from trying to be heard above the clatter. In the evening, these noises subside and the actors appear.

And then, to indicate that production date is only a few days off, furniture is moved in—"No! that won't do!"— Furniture is moved out—costumes are unpacked, or the smell of new cloth means new ones under construction—and finally the light tower is used for setting lights, instead of an acrobatic bar—"Don't sit on that chair, it's only a prop!"—prop girls guarding the borrowed vases, dishes, and furniture—a wail from the light cage and a voice moaning that a fuse has just blown, and there are no more in town—stage crew begins to rehearse scene changes—the smell of grease paint fills the basement—the call boys get their cues—the costumers do last minute pinning and sewing—everybody fervently kisses Thumper—the excitement of getting flowers is lost in the excitement of opening night—the theatre orchestra plays the overture—then "Curtain going up"—and the show is on.

The shows this year have been Blithe Spirit by Noel Coward, directed by W. R. Taylor; The Little Clay Cart, a translation from the Hindu, directed by Marquis de B. Patterson; The Old Maid, dramatized by Zoe Aikens from Edith Wharton's novel, directed by W. R. Taylor; and Prometheus Bound of Aeschylus, directed by Kathryn England.

Memoirs of An Eventful

'Twas the night before February 15, and room 315 Winfield was in its usual uproar, but just a little more so, because said night marked the eve of Pine Needles' deadline. While most seniors had been thinking in terms of June 3, this particular group had eaten, slept, and gone to class to the tune of February 15.

But best we begin the story of how to build a yearbook back in May, 1945, when the first steps were taken with the signing of contracts and the making of layouts. Then we spent the summer catching a few typical shots around campus. At last September had arrived, and the arduous task of taking those individual junior and senior pictures was upon us. With that completed we began scheduling group pictures, and invariably it would rain on these days. We also had Eastern War Time to contend with and had forgotten that it gets dark at 5 P. M.

But it takes more than pictures to make a yearbook. Senior write-ups were another large headache, accompanied by typists' remarks, "I can't read her writing. Are you sure that is an 'A'?" And last, but not least, we identified you 2185 students and

Yes, we have a business end to this publication too. Smith spent the better part of the year trying to talk the Merchants' Association into allowing its members to advertise.

Through all these assorted woes, trials, and tribulations, we have survived as we knew we would and are ready for the next edition. With the cooperation and helpful advice of our congenial photographer, Wade Ramsey, the Charlotte Engravers, and the Lassiter Press, it is with extreme pleasure and hope that our efforts have not been in vain and that we are able to present to you the product of our blood, sweat and tears—a record of a memorable year—THE 1946 PINE NEEDLES.

Time: Any Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday night.

Place: CARY office, basement of Alumnae Building.

Character: Unsuspecting W. C. girl who wandered by mistake into That Place of Chaos, the office of the campus newspaper. She enters, unnoticed in the smoke and confusion, and tries to comprehend what goes on:

"What's the lead this week?" somebody yells. How many inches of ads, Brimhall? Is there enough stuff for six pages?—Comrades unite, you've nothing to lose but your brains! from N. Sutton, mounted on a wastebasket goes up in smoke as Mildred calmly builds bond fires—Who wants to go to West End?—Sleep, what the heck's that?—The matter of chapel cuts and Arts Forum cuts. Should we abolish compulsory classes or just abolish classes?—Six typewriters, but only two that work—Which is more important, individual freedom or economic security? — Does *any*body know

Sutton and Rose, and interviews with the Celebs—Faithful reporters in and out, the backbone of the staff—What's Winfield's outside number?—Is she radical, conservative, or reactionary? as the labels are thrown around—Ye gods, they've lost the cuts again!—The wastebasket races and James's third (but still gentle) reminder that upstairs a meeting meets—Bass: For crying in the beer, this front page is the . . ., and slaving with make-up until the wee hours—Gin-Gin and Smitty, hounding reporters and putting copy into shape—Celeste enthusiastic with all the latest news from the ends of campus, particularly the P. But I think—And the smoke gets thicker and the voices grow louder, and occasionally a story is tossed into the wire basket. And on into the night . . .

And the unsuspecting W. C. girl well may wonder at the end result: a weekly campus paper, completely student-run and student-operated, which attempts to present the news and views of campus, interpret and reflect student opinion, and provide experience for potential newspaperwomen—a paper which holds that "though we may heartily disapprove of what you have to say, we will defend to the death your right to say it."

The Literary Minded

ANGELA SNELL, Editor

Coraddi, student magazine of Woman's College, is the oldest publication on campus. It has printed student literary work since 1897. The Coraddi derives its name from the initial letters of the former literary societies—COR—nelian, AD—delphian, and DI-kean.

Issued quarterly, the Coraddi is managed and edited entirely by students. The business staff, headed by the business manager, keeps the budget balanced and obtains advertisements to supplement the funds allocated the magazine by the college, while the editorial staff concerns itself with the contents of the magazine.

Each year the editorial staff is faced with the problem of policy. Is the magazine to adhere to the theory that the purpose of it is communication? Should Coraddi cater to the tastes of all students or only to a select few? After the staff has settled upon a policy, the work of getting Coraddi to press begins. At this time the Coraddi

Suddenly the fire alarm sounds with the realization that the deadline for sending Coraddi to press is near. Material is collected, considered, selected, and rewritten with furious haste. The art editor lays siege to the oil department for black prints and woodcuts. Photographers work late in the darkroom developing photographs for the cover and advertisements. The copy, assembled and the layout made up, Coraddi is ready for the printer. After momentary flurry over proofreading and distribution, the Coraddi staff settles back into its easy chair to await a new deadline.

President

This year the Societies evolved from the last phase of the Renaissance into the Reformation of their activities on our campus. They have done this by attempting to create among the new members more student fellowship and participation in all Society functions.

The traditional initiation day officially opened the Society activities for the year. With hair rolled up on socks, skirts worn wrong side out, and mismatched shoes and socks, the "Rats" bowed under the crack of the upperclassman whip! "Rat Day" was climaxed by the annual formal banquets. At this time the Aletheians and Dikeans reinstated their old members and pledged their new members by a simple ritual which expressed the aims of their respective Societies. During the course of the evening, each president was presented with her Society pin, and the members were presented with their favors: the Aletheians and Dikeans, yellow and green monogramed book matches; the Adelphians, monogramed pencils; and the Cornelians, bookmarks. Also a warm welcome was extended to all by the presidents.

The social life of Woman's College Campus would not be complete without the Society formal dances. With the return of so many men came an increase in attendance at these dances.

Those lovely ladies dressed in white who are seen marshalling at all the functions in Aycock are also sponsored by the Societies.

Something new has been added! The Societies discovered the hidden talent on our campus and presented it to the student body by an amateur show in chapel. The prizes in victory stamps were awarded to the winners. Judging from student reaction, we think that the Societies have got something here!

Something else new has been added. A Valentine's Carnival! Bingo, fortune telling, pitching pennies, grab bag, magicians, throwing darts, bobbing apples, guessing weights, hot dogs, hamburgers, pop corn, peanuts, cigarettes, candy, coca colas, cider, AND that big, refreshing "pepsi"—all this helped us on that gala

Saturday night to forget the wear and tear of exams. This Carnival was sponsored by all four Societies.

Our recently acquired project, the Book Exchange, has proven very successful as a service to the entire student body. It affords an excellent medium of exchange for second hand books. All proceeds from this enterprise go to the Chapel Fund, however, this is not primarily a money-making proposition.

It is hoped that the old activities, combined with the new ones, have attained for the Societies their rightful place of distinction, respect, and prestige to which they are entitled on Woman's College Campus.

JANE AUSTIN
Social Chairman

Social Planning Council

Because of the need for a larger, better-organized social program on campus, a Social Planning Council is set up to carry on an expanding social program. This Council consists of the College Social Chairman, as acting chairman of the Council, a counselor, a faculty member, the residence hall social chairmen, and representatives from the Y. W. C. A., the Inter-Faith Council, the Societies combined, the Recreation Association.

The Social Planning Council has four principal aims: to allocate responsibilities to certain groups, to prepare a schedule of fixed programs for the year, to manage a flexible social program, and to prepare and send out a weekly social calendar.

Athletics at W.C.U.N.C.

For fun, health and relaxation,

Play with the R.A.—Today and Everyday!

With this as its slogan, the Recreation Association provided varied activities for everyone on campus. It all began back in September and continued through to June. Hockey, speedball, tennis, volley ball all called girls from every corner of W. C. as the beautiful fall weather just whispered "Play!" Basketball shots, whistles, screams from spectators supporting their dorm team—these echoed from the gym every night from December to March. Fifteen teams vied in the hottest, cleanest competition here to see which would win the league and campus championship. Then came the sports highlight of the year—Gym Meet. As alumnae and students packed the big gym to the top of the rafters, participants tumbled and did "flying angels," "cut away" on the rings and did demonstrations—all to the deafening roar of the throng. The 18th Annual Gym Meet, in honor of Miss Mary C. Coleman's 25th year of service at W. C., was the best ever.

Water nymphs dropped in from the Northland as the Dolphin-Seal Club presented its annual water pageant, "Snow Wonder." Snowflakes, icicles, and polar bears were everywhere as spectators enjoyed one of the big events of the year.

"I've got it," "It's a homer!" "Slide!" — these meant only one thing—Softball again! As spring came in, so did the crack of the bat, thrills, and all else that automatically means softball. Tennis, golf, archery, and swimming provided fun and relaxation for many girls.

In the meantime, clubs were in full swing. "Swing your partner" with the Square Dancers, "shuffle" with the Cloggers, "hit the bull's eye" with the Archers,

"in the fairway" with the Golfers—and honors to the Dance Group for such wonderful performances in "Prometheus Bound" and the spring recital.

Every week-end found some group getting away from the confinement of books and relaxing at Camp Ahutforfun—sleeping under the stars, swimming in the lake, just loafing, enjoying companionship which knows no bounds.

Wasn't the year "fun-full," "health-full," and "relax-full!"
